Consider these artistic designs to turn your home into your muse.

Bright Idea
Shine a light on any subject with CP Lighting's Lumber Lamp. Drawing from the French faux bois technique, which mimics the grainy patterns of natural wood, each chandelier is customized with the help of Naples designer Judith Liegeois.

Leading Edge
The Ballard Bench is versatile in style and function—its asymmetrical, twisted design makes it stand out, while its neutral, white-washed, wood finish and linen top means it works in just about any space.

Learning Curve
If it isn't topped with remotes or wine glasses, this Sculpted Iron Coffee Table might just pass for a work of art. The blackened iron and uneven ridges add a subtle edge.

Moving Parts
Use this vintage-chic Boat Propeller Table as a side table or a decorative piece in the hallway. The 1920s-inspired base mimics a propeller for a nautical touch that's not kitschy.

Bold Face
LePage New York's "Ya Don't Say" vase was inspired by actor James Cagney's popular quote and his easy-going nature. Created to evoke the actor's confidence, the playful vase is made from carved acrylic so it won't shatter easily.

Walls That Talk
The malleable, 3D Flower Wall Art from Phillip Collection's botanical line can be bent to adjust to the desired depth or shape. These glossy, lacquer adornments come in various shapes and colors (shown in large, ivory).
