WHETHER USED EVERY DAY OR ONLY ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS, THE DINING ROOM REMAINS AN ESSENTIAL PART OF THE HOME EXPERIENCE

LEFT: Designer JUDITH LIEGEOIS knew this striking orange chandelier and avant-garde table (note the marble top and sculptural bronze base) would do all the work in this dining room when it came to wow factor. And like the experienced designer she is, she let said pieces have their moment. judithliegoisdesigns.com

RIGHT: Designer Daniel Killgore of SOCO INTERIORS chose a Julie Neill light fixture made up of tiny gold butterflies for its strong contrast to the white crocodile hide credenza in this dining room. "I was looking for soft and feminine, and as soon as I saw this light, I knew we had to use it," he says. "It's a piece of art that becomes the focal point of the room."
